Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurCommander Jonathan Radec is dead. However, the Commander has already died once before, and for some death is but a doorwayFor whoever has lived unjustly and impiously goes to the dungeon of requital and penance which, you know, they call Tartarus. - PlatoAfter making a shocking discovery that reveals the truth about a long-held misconception, the crew launch a desperate rescue mission to Tartarus. The only way to reach there, aboard The Sunfire, which was once the Confederation Navys newest, most powerful heavy cruiser, but is now nothing more than a ghost ship, adrift amongst the stars. Meanwhile the last Imperial Princess, Sofia Aurelius, is questioning her own decision to focus on the Senate and turn her back on her family and Jon. Embarking on a quest to discover the truth about the present she instead finds the past has finally caught up with her. Failure will mean certainly death for them both, but the price of success could be far worse, almost certainly plunging the galaxy into civil war, the last of which, five-hundred years ago, cost tens of millions of lives. The sequel to the 2012 bestseller The Last Praetorian a Science Fiction adventure/romance, which tries to answer the question: Can you ever find redemption for the mistakes of your past?
